Marterie featured as top prom attraction

Ralph Marterie and his orchestra will be the featured attraction at the junior-senior prom, entitled "Roman Holiday," to be held May 12.

Qubeck attends youth meeting

Some 150 leaders in the area of youth activity in America met in Washington, D. C. April 9-13 to discuss the ways they might guide the nation's youth to achieve a more responsible role in society. Bernard E. Qubeck, assistant professor of music at St. Joseph's college and president of the National Catholic Bandmaster's association, represented the NCBA at the meeting.

The NCBA was invited to attend the conference because of the "outstanding contribution the organization has made toward" "self and social identity, and realization of American goals" with its Summer Band Camp, which has been held each summer since 1953.

Qubeck stated that the ultimate objective of the Camp is the promotion of a higher standard of musicianship among those Catholic bandmen in attendance, through the correlation of music, prayer, and recreation in a healthful camp atmosphere, providing for both spiritual as well as the musical and recreational needs of the camper.

The NCBA summer band camp is open to all school band members, Catholic or non-Catholic, from seventh grade through senior year in high school who are judged by their band directors as being worthy camp members.

Two Catholic colleges will host camps this year. The camp at St. Joseph's on the Rio Grande in Albuquerque starts on June 24 for one week under the direction of Al. G. Jerrett. The camp at St. Joseph's College in Rensselaer, Ind. starts on Aug. 13 and is also for one week. It is under the direction of Adam P. Lesinsky.

Voted the most popular college band in the nation by college class leaders and dance committees in a poll conducted by "Downbeat" and "Cash Box" magazines, Marterie and his orchestra have more record hits to their credit than any other band in the business. "Pretend," "Shish Kabob" and "Caravan" are a few of their famous million record sellers.

RALPH MARTERIE

Marterie, selected as the No. 1 instrumentalist band leader by Downbeat magazine, leads the most traveled of the big-name orchestras with his swinging trumpet. His proficiency with the trumpet has brought wide acclaim from the music world. He is often spoken of as "The Man Born for the Horn."

The Marterie orchestra is credited with reviving the "jump number" among the college campuses. His band is also given credit for bringing back ballroom dancing. It has been stated that Marterie usually knew what the crowd wanted before they did.

Class, club elections progressing

Elections of the new class and club officers who will serve next year will be completed by the middle of this month, according to Paul Andorfer, chairman of the Student Council election committee.

Senior class elections were held yesterday with runoffs today. Junior class elections are scheduled for next Tuesday and Wednesday, with sophomore balloting to follow on next Thursday and Friday.

All clubs were to have had their new officers elected by now, and Andorfer said that the new inter-club chairman should be chosen sometime before May 14, when next year's Council will take office.

Election committee rules state that petitions must be filed at least 48 hours before balloting begins. Since candidates have been waiting till near the deadline before filing, it is impossible to publish a list of candidates for junior and sophomore offices.

Those running for senior offices were the following: president—Bill Downard and Pat Bresnahan; vice president—Bill Lieb and Lee Gallaher; secretary—Bill Keenan and Jerry Meserve; treasurer—Jim McGill and Bill Bloch.

Parents day scheduled for Sunday, May 6

Parents of all St. Joseph's students have been invited by the college to attend the annual Parents' Day activities, which will be held this Sunday, May 6.

The central activity will be the annual Parents' Day program in the fieldhouse at 2:00 p.m. At this time students who have won academic honors this school year will be introduced and presented their awards by college officials.

Also on the program will be talks by members of the college administration, and music provided by the band and glee club.

Larry McKay, president of the senior class, will be master of ceremonies for the program.

The day will begin with a special noon mass for students and their parents. Lunch will be served in the cafeteria. The program will be followed by an informal discussion period between parents and faculty members.

SJ Glee club to give concert

Saint Xavier's college Chorus, in conjunction with St. Joseph's college Glee club, will present the annual Spring Choral concert in the St. Joseph's auditorium on Saturday, May 5, at 7:30 p.m.

Saint Xavier's 79 voice women's chorus, directed by Austin Garrels, will begin the program by singing Walter Schumann's "He's Gone Away" (Deanna Mshar, soloist); an old English Folk Song, "Green Sleeves" (Helen Meegan, soloist); Herbert Hughes' "Doctor Foster;" an old Irish folk song, "I Know Where I'm Going" (Julie Capen, soloist); and a spiritual, "Little David Play on Your Harp" (Bernadette Desio, soloist).

During the second half of the program the chorus will present Bob Merrill's "Carnival"; the "I Love Paris" selection from "Can-Can" (Sheila Conlon, soloist); and the theme from Bernstein's "West Side Story" (Judy Fredo, soloist).

The local Glee club, directed by Fr. Lawrence Heiman, will sing a selection of light numbers such as "Play Gypsies, Dance Gypsies," "The Donkey Serenade," "The Maid of Amsterdam" (Ray Billy, soloist), and "Hey Look Me Over."

The Singing Seventeen will begin the second half of the program with "The Singer's March," "Waltzing Matilda," and "Old MacDonald Had a Farm" (Don Hoffman, soloist).

Both the Chorus and the Glee club will conclude the first half of the program by singing selections from Rodgers and Hammerstein's "The Sound of Music."

The combined chorus will also conclude the second half of the program. They will sing a spiritual, "Roll, Jordan, Roll," "Roumanian Rhapsody," and "Alexander's Ragtime Band."

CP's put finishing touches on 'Hasty Heart'

On Thursday and Friday of this week at 8 p.m. the Columbian Players will present "The Hasty Heart" by John Patrick. Stuff has carried in recent issues several articles on this play, a story with comedy, but also with an essentially serious meaning about the brotherhood of man. No admission will be charged to see this drama, which will be presented in the college auditorium.

The principal characters of the production are Tony Geis as the orderly, Jim Hatterer as the Yank, and Gene Ognibene as Digger. The role of Tommy will be handled by Pat Bresnahan and that of the Colonel by Ron Liszkowski. The part of Lachie, the Scottish hero, will be played by Stan Dworak. Miss Maureen Scharf will play Sister Margaret.

Shown here are two of the stars of the Columbian Players' production of "The Hasty Heart," Maureen Scharf, who will play Sister Margaret, and Stan Dworak, who will take the part of Lachie.

Press' National newspaper critical service.

The first class honor rating is the second highest given by the Associated Collegiate Press (ACP). It is given to newspapers attaining excellent achievement in carrying out the functions of the college newspaper.

The rating carries with it a certificate approved by Mr. Fred L. Kildow, director of ACP, and a newspaper guidebook containing the analysis upon which the award was based.

Stuff was judged to be especially outstanding in the areas of copyreading, editorials, intramural coverage, layout, headlines, and typography and printing.

The highest rating given by ACP is "All American." Distinctly superior achievement is required to earn this rating. Only three of 41 papers in Stuff's class earned the "All American" rating.

In this year's judging, Stuff was given 3100 points, a gain of 380 over last year's total of 2820.

'Derby Holiday'

Arrangements for Saturday nights' frosh-soph hop, the annual underclassman spring dance, are nearing completion. The Rec hall has been decorated in a Churchill Downs motif, complete with clubhouse, and dancegoers will be served by waiters dressed as jockies.

Featured at the dance will be the new 15 piece Upper-classmen band, rather than the eight piece group.

Saturday afternoon a record hop will be held in Merlino lounge for Pumas and their dates and the south end of the cafeteria will be reserved for those attending the dance.

Freshman class officers said that there are still some tickets available for the dance.

Despite weaknesses, 'Comps' are beneficial to students

During the past several days the senior class have taken their comprehensive examinations. For some students, "comps" have been no problem, for others they have been painfully difficult, and for still others they have been disastrous.

Comprehensive examinations are given each year to all seniors: and no student is graduated until he has passed the examination. If this requires that the arduous process of studying for and taking the comps be repeated, even several times, the student must bear the inconvenience or not graduate. The period preceding and during comps is then, to say the least, nerve racking.

The idea of the comprehensive exam is to cover in one massive examination the full four years of study in the student's major field. This is a tremendous amount of knowledge to be held responsible for on one day, especially in the many cases where students are tested on material from courses they have never taken. This situation obviously places a great amount of pressure on the student.

Because of the great effort involved, and because comps often prevent graduation, especially of students who have just managed to survive academically, many students have expressed belief that comps should be eliminated. While there are some arguments in its favor, this course of action seems undesirable, in addition to being quite unlikely.

It is true that a large majority of American colleges administer comprehensive-type exams, as do many graduate schools. But this fact in itself is no proof—the answer lies in the reason why comprehensive exams are given, at St. Joseph's or anywhere else.

During four years of college, a student is exposed to a gigantic amount of information of varying degrees of value. At the end of each semester he is given grades indicating his success in acquiring a certain segment of that knowledge. Those who are unsuccessful are deleted from the group, and after four years those whose grades indicate success stand ready for graduation.

But, after graduation the student must go out into a world which assumes he has acquired knowledge sufficient to meet its challenges. How is the student to know this is the case if he is not able to demonstrate his accomplishment? And how are those with whom he is to deal to know if knowledge once obtained has been retained unless the student is able to recall and organize what he has been taught?

It can be said that the mere experience of college life, and the development of mind undergone at college are of as much value as the factual knowledge acquired. If so, what better indication of this refinement is possible than the systematic recall of the equally valuable factual material one has been exposed to?

Those opposed to comps point out that many are tested on material they have not studied, and that some who have struggled diligently and honestly are unjustly denied graduation by the comprehensives.

While there is something to be said for acquiring all the knowledge possible, the first seems to be a worthy complaint, since the courses one has had furnish challenge enough. As for the second complaint, while it is true that the comps may be taken as often as necessary, it appears just that the student diligent in his effort, but not quite capable of passing comps, deserves the advantage of a degree.

Thus the value of comprehensives would be increased if students were tested only on material they have taken in class, and if the strict relationship between passage of comps and graduation were loosened, perhaps by allowing near-passing students to graduate, but including the comp grade on his permanent record. But surely the best remedy for the whole situation would be for every student to keep always in mind the ideal of acquiring a meaningful and unified body of knowledge. This is advisable because it seems likely that some form of comprehensive exams will always be in force—as it should be.

Thinking Men Prefer

By STEVE LIGDA

The end of another school year is rapidly approaching, bringing with it a time for reflection on the many events which have transpired since last September.

On May 14 a group of newly elected officers will take up the reins to guide next year's Student Council. However, before these new officers begin to exercise their authority let us look back at the departing Council. How has it fared over the past year? How closely has it followed the campaign promises of its officers? How well has it attempted to serve the best interests of the students?

There can be no better judge of a government than those whom it rules—in this case, the student body. Here is what seven students replied when asked, "What kind of overall job, either good or bad, do you think this year's Student Council performed?"

John Gordon, senior, Chicago, Illinois.

"Comparatively speaking, the Student Council of '61-'62 did a good job. However, comparisons of this nature are rather weak, so to look upon this year's Council with an approving eye is not too desirous. The members of this year's Student Council were elected under platforms hailing service to the student body. What is a student government? Any student who has obtained an office on this campus in the past years has failed to live up to his platform of service to the student body, and in the light of this, many failures have been sustained by Council after Council. It is my opinion that success will not come to St. Joseph's Student Government until there is a true spirit of service adopted by officers who are not merely complacent receptors of glory."

Jerry Meservey, junior, Chicago, Illinois.

"I personally think that this year's Student Council has done a good job in acting as the main governing body of the students. This has been a somewhat tumultuous year with much unrest among the student body, but throughout all the turmoil the Council has maintained its prestige. It has been able to do this by hearing both sides of all arguments and after doing so, trying to resolve some answer to the situation. An example of this would be the hearing of the complaints of the student body at special meetings as was done in the second semester.

It is true that the Council threw its weight around quite often, but after a little thought it would be realized its actions were for the good of the student body.

To go through the entire year and name the good and bad points of the Council would be foolish. We as a student body elected the Council and I for one say that we have been well represented this past year."

Don Dilworth, sophomore, Lima, Ohio.

"As compared with the Council of last year, I believe that this year's Council was a great improvement. They did secure all night lights for underclassmen and also brought the student's complaints before the administration so that at least an attempt at solving them might be made. It is true that fewer mixers were held than in previous years, but this was blamed on a lack of funds which seems to be a legitimate excuse. To make up for this, two jazz concerts were held."

Frank Harmon, sophomore, Chicago, Ill.

"In my opinion, this year's Student Council was one which did not live up to the successful accomplishments which were expected of it.

I think that the extension of lights for both the freshman and sophomore classes was its greatest achievement. However, if it were not for the pressure exerted by the sophomore class officers and the students themselves I doubt very seriously if the Council would have fulfilled that particular promise. I definitely believe that our outgoing Council impressed upon the administration that it would stand behind the student body one hundred percent, but I also believe that this year's Council should have stressed the importance of its committees in order to encourage greater participation on the part of the student body."

"On the whole I think that this year's Council did a much better job than last year's. Most of the officer's campaign promises were fulfilled or at least attempted. An example of this was all night lights for underclassmen. Socially I think it did an adequate job even though only three mixers were held. A free date dance, something we didn't have last year, was sponsored by the Council. The complaint committee due to the fact that this was its first year wasn't able to do an outstanding job, but still it was satisfactory. Taken as a whole I believe the Council did a more than adequate job of carrying out its functions."

Mark Schaffer, freshman, Indianapolis, Indiana.

"Since I have no previous years to compare with I find it hard to express an opinion, however, I must say that I believe that this year's Council has done an average job. As far as the social angle, the Council did fall down in having as few mixers as they did, but I think this could be compensated for by holding more student activities such as jazz concerts which attract a great deal of student interest.

I believe that the Council officers worked especially hard at times trying to get things done, but on the whole I think that they accomplished only an average amount of success and I am looking for next year's Council to take up the slack."

Rich White, freshman, Chicago, Illinois.

"The fact that this is the first Council that I have experienced here makes it hard to form a judgment concerning such things.

I don't think that this year's Council did as bad a job as might seem. There is room for improvement in some areas such as the tutoring service which fell flat. However, such happenings can't be blamed solely on the Council. There also could have been more mixers in the second semester. Probably a lack of funds is what hampered the Council the most, but I believe that the Council of next year will be able to push through the needed improvements."

The functions of the Student Council should be as that of the heart to the body—the main organ supplying intellectual and physical nourishment to the student body. I have seen other college Student Councils do this well and I have seen St. Joe's Council do it poorly. I have seen them ignore an astronomical number of legitimate complaints. I have seen them "goose step" all over the student body under the pseudo-legitimacy of the "disciplinary committee". I've seen them flagrantly violate the laws that give meaning to their existence.

But my opinion is prejudiced; I'm a student.

SJ, Valpo split twin bill Keglers finish third in national tourney

Pumas now have 11-7 season mark

By CHARLES J. SCHUTTROW

St. Joseph's Pumas outslugged Valparaiso's Crusaders 8-3 in game one and then lost a tight pitching duel, 1-0, to split a doubleheader on St. Joseph's diamond April 28.

The split left the Pumas with an 11-7 season record, and a 2-6 ICC mark.

St. Joseph's jumped on losing pitcher Paul Robisch in the first game for solo runs in the first, second and fourth innings, and added three more in the fifth to build a 6-0 lead before Valparaiso notched three tallies in the seventh to narrow the margin to 6-3. But the Pumas bounced back with two unearned runs in the eighth to round out the scoring.

Bob Marx relieved Art Voellinger (now 5-2) in the eighth to help save the victory. Pat O'Connor and Bill Seidensticker led the Pumas' attack with two hits and one RBI apiece.

Valparaiso scored an unearned run in the third inning of game two and then made it stand up as they went on to take a 1-0 win behind Barry Bruckner's four-hit shutout.

Losing pitcher Tony Pacenti (3-2) issued two walks to start the third before two flies to centerfielder George Post followed. But then shortstop Jim Crowley fumbled Bruckner's grounder to load the bases. Pacenti then issued another walk to force in the game's only run.

Although the Pumas advanced runners to second and third in the fifth inning and another to third in the seventh, they were unable to tie the score. O'Connor led St. Joseph hitters in game two with

In other action since the last issue of Stuff, the baseball Pumas have won eight and lost four.

Wins have been over Anderson (two), Evansville, Oakland City (two), Central Michigan and Franklin (two). Losses were to Ball State (two), Evansville and Central Michigan.

After the April 11 double loss, 5-2 and 5-3, to Ball State, the Pumas came back home on April 14 to clip the wings of the Anderson Ravens. The Pumas won by scores of 4-3 and 10-1 at Pumaville. Marx and Voellinger were the winners.

The Joemen took the first game from Evansville 4-3 April 17 at Evansville, but the Aces came back to take the nightcap 5-2. Two days later, on the second leg of a southern swing, the Pumas took two games from Oakland City by scores of 6-5 and 12-4.

Back in Rensselaer on April 23, the Pumas and Central Michigan traded shutouts. St. Joe, behind Pacenti's two-hitter, took the opener 5-0. But Central revived and won the second game 3-0.

Franklin visited the Pumas on April 25, and the Pumas downed the Grizzlies twice, 9-2 and 7-6. Marx, who is now 3-2, took the opener, while Voellinger in relief of Hunt (0-2) won the second game.

George Post has been the leading Puma hitter this season. Post's batting average is well over .300, and he has hit all four home runs credited to the Pumas thus far. Captain Jim Crowley is nearest to Post in the average department.

The Pumas will be at Indiana State Saturday and at Marian next Thursday.

All-time ICC cage stats show SJ last

On the basis of 1961-62 performances, Butler moved into first place and St. Joseph's slipped into the cellar in Indiana Collegiate Conference all-time basketball performances, the ICC news bureau reported this week.

Butler, with its second straight 10-2 title-winning performance, bumped Evansville out of the all-time league lead, .710 to .699, while the tough-luck Pumas, saddled with a 1-11 record for the season, dropped into last place behind Ball State, .343 and .353.

All other conference all-time records and standings remained intact.

The St. Joseph's bowling team finished third in a 32-team field competing for the championship of the first annual NAIA National Intercollegiate bowling tournament in Kansas City, Mo., April 27-28.

Quickly earning the nickname of "Indiana hotshots," the Puma keggers rolled into first place at the halfway point of the tournament with a six game total of 5,552, 36 sticks ahead of second place Gannon college, Erie, Pa.

St. Joe's had taken charge in a hurry with 999 in the first game, then clinched the two-round top spot with a 964 final game. Steve Jupinka's 254 and Wally Nedza's 214 triggered the Pumas' lead-off burst.

The Joemen retained first position in the third round with three-game total of 2,703. This brought their nine-game total to 8,255, 61 pins ahead of Gannon college, still the closest contender.

But one big push in the fourth and final round put Gannon over the top. Followed quickly by Central Oklahoma State college (Edmond, Okla.), the Golden Knights of Gannon stole the championship from the Pumas, putting them into third place.

St. Joseph's ended with a 10,850 pin total for the 12-game series. The first and second place teams, Gannon and Central Oklahoma, had tournament pin totals of 10,982 and 10,923, respectively.

The Pumas received a plaque for third place in the tournament and each of the bowlers, including James Madden, Pat Del Cotto, Wally Nedza, Steve Jupinka, Harold Hansen and Richard Hanson, received a medal for his efforts. (Each of the bowlers on the four leading teams received one.)

The 32 teams that participated in the tournament came from all over the United States: from Morehouse college, Atlanta, Ga. to Pacific university, Forest Grove, Ore., and from McMurtry college, Abilene, Tex. to St. Cloud State college, St. Cloud, Minn.

Despite a season-ending loss to Notre Dame April 15 at South Bend, Ind., St. Joseph's varsity bowling team captured their first Midwest Inter-collegiate Bowling Conference title in 14 years.

The Puma keggers' 77-33 season record placed them two points ahead of second place Notre Dame, who had a 75-35 mark.

Season averages of Pumas are: Pat Del Cotto (196), Captain Wally Nedza (195), Steve Jupinka (194), Harry Hansen (185), Rich Hanson (180), and Jim Madden (180).

During the 1961-62 season, the Pumas set several conference records. The Pumas' 5081 total pin performance against Loyola University of Chicago earlier this year set a conference record, as did their 77 points tallied in the season just ended. Jupinka also broke Nedza's 1961 five-game total pin record with a 1135 series. Nedza bowled a 1107 series in 1960-61.

The Pumas will also attempt to capture their second consecutive MIBC tournament championship May 13 when the MIBC's six members meet at Loyola University.

Track team beats Ind. Tech, loses to Taylor and Rose Poly

After opening their season with losses to DePauw and Rose Poly, the St. Joe track team came back to defeat Indiana Tech 76-51 on April 14. Then, on April 28, the Pumas finished last in a three way meet with Taylor and Rose Poly, 95, 23, 16.

In the win against Indiana Tech, Pumas finishing first were: Bill Braunbeck, 100 and 220 yard dashes; Bill Keenan, one mile and two mile; Larry Brost, low hurdles, high hurdles and broad jump; Ed Morris, pole vault; and Dave Beam, javelin.

Second place finishers at Tech were: Keenan, 880; Barry Reublin, mile and two mile; John Lau, low and high hurdles; Tony Geis, shot put; Morris, discus; and Wilburscheid, javelin.

Finishing third at the Indiana Tech meet were: Tom Ciskowski, 440; Reublin, 880; Dave Fagen, mile and two mile; Metz, discus; and Russ Marcinek, high jump and broad jump.

In the three-way meet, the Pumas had no first, but the following finished second: Brost in the low hurdles; Geis in the shot put; Beam in the javelin; and the mile relay team of Ciskowski, Braunbeck, Jim Tuerff and Lau. This latter was a new school record of 3:44.8.

Pumas finishing third at Rose Poly were Ephgrave in the broad jump, Keenan in the mile and two mile, and Wilburscheid in the javelin.

On April 17, the freshman track squad finished third in a four way meet, behind DePauw and Butler (by one point) and ahead of Evansville.

Winners for St. Joe were Ron Dostal in the 100, Larry Lennon in the 220, and the 880 relay team of Dostal, Lennon, Klemm and Conrad.

Tennis

Coach John Sorg reports that the tennis team lost two encounters during the month of April, including one conference match. The losses were to DePaul and Ball State.

On April 9 the DePaul netters trounced St. Joe by a 9-0 score.

Losing singles matches were John Luxem (6-0; 6-1), Bill Currie (6-4; 6-4), Dan Sorg (0-6; 6-0; 6-2), Tony Vasek (6-1; 6-1), Tim Nash (1-6; 6-3; 6-4) and Tom Miller (6-1; 6-1).

All three Puma doubles teams lost in straight sets.

On April 14 the Ball State tennis team defeated St. Joe by a 6-1 score.

Bill Currie won the lone match taken by the Pumas, as he won 1-6; 6-0; 6-3. Sorg, Vasek, Luxem and Miller lost their singles matches, and two doubles matches were lost in straight sets.

Golfers to meet Indiana State Friday

Since beating Marian in the season opener, the St. Joe golfers have dropped four straight matches, three of them on the road.

On April 14 the St. Joe linksters finished last in a meet with DePauw and Hanover. The scores were DePauw 15, St. Joe 0, and Hanover 9½ St. Joe 5½.

On April 17, the Pumas tied North Central 12-12, and lost to Navy Pier 24-0 in another triangular meet.

Last Saturday the freshman team defeated the varsity by a 11½-6½ score on the local course.

On Monday, April 30 the Pumas were defeated 14-1 by Indiana State at Terre Haute.

The Sycamores will be here for a rematch Friday, and Navy Pier-Marian will oppose the Pumas at Curtis Creek Saturday. Next Tuesday the University of Chicago is here.

Low scorer for the Pumas has been sophomore Rich Ostrowski. After a slow start, Ostrowski shot a 75 against the freshmen and a 78 against Indiana State.

Intramural Scoreboard

Archery added to IM competition

By JIM TRAINOR

Now that the Gallagher Gaelics have captured the I. M. basketball championship, many people probably think that the I. M. competition at Pumaville has virtually ended. However, this spring is shaping up as one of the most eventful in a long time.

JIM TRAINOR

One of the newest things to be added is archery. Two meetings have already been held in the fieldhouse. These are conducted on Monday nights by the Rensselaer Archery club and will continue until the end of the year.

Although this has not primarily been an intramural sport, Coach Merki has made plans for next year. Equipment has been purchased and will be made available to those wishing to participate next year. For those who may be interested, the archery club will present awards to those who qualify.

Speaking of winning awards, Fr. Reuve please take heed. Tom Thoma won the checker tournament. It looks like that silver dollar is in jeopardy.

Although the softball league is getting into full swing, it is too early to tell who is the team to beat. By the next issue of Stuff, the standings will be made available.

For those counting their points, this is the way the standings are to date.

1. Gaspar	994	7. Noll	300
2. Washburn-White	753	8. Scharf-Aquinas-
3. West Seifert	431	Powerhouse	292
4. East Seifert	349	9. Halas	221
5. Gallagher	324	10. Bennett	195
6. Merlini	305	11. Drexel	161

Track . . .

The relay team set a new school mark of 1:35.0.

Doran of St. Joe finished second in the mile in the freshman meet. Third place finishers were Doran in the two mile, Conrad in the 220, Lennon in the 100 and Bubings in the high hurdles.

On May 9 the varsity will compete in a three way meet with Eureka and Rose Poly. Then, on May 14, the varsity travels to Valpo. Valpo's frosh tracksters will be here May 15. The varsity will complete their schedule with a meet at Indiana State May 16 and the IOC meet at Muncie May 19.

Notice

Announcement of the winner of the annual STUFF club of the Year award, which was to have been made in this issue, has been delayed. The announcement will be made in the next issue.

The Club of the Year award, $50 in cash, is presented annually by STUFF to the campus club which is judged to have done the most outstanding service to its members, to the student body and to the good name of the college.

Entries are first judged by two anonymous faculty members, who each select three clubs they consider most worthy. Then the President and Inter-club chairman of the Student Council and the editor of Stuff vote to decide the winner from among these choices. This latter process has not been completed, but will be soon.

Barbell club stages first lift contest

John Marshall, a junior from Wheatfield, Ind., was named the best lifter in the S.J.C. Barbell club's intracub weightlifting meet held Monday April 9. Before an estimated crowd of 25 students, John, in the 145 lb. class, hoisted a 160 lb. press, a 190 lb. clean and jerk, and a 340 lb. dead lift to give him a 690 lb. total in the three competition lifts. Tony Palumbo, a freshman wrestler and a novice lifter from Camden, N.J., had lifts of 125, 135, and 305 lbs. good enough for second place in the same weight division.

With other competition in his 157 lb. class, Dick Kische, a sophomore from Middletown, Pa., put up a total of 635 lbs. Kische had poundages of 170, 170, and 295 in the respective lifts.

Bill Thumm, with no competition in his 169 lb. class, nevertheless tried for his maximum poundages, and obtained a total of 710 lbs. The freshman from Ottawa, Ill., had lifts of 165, 185, and 360 lbs.

A previous trophy winner from his high school days was the victor in the 181 lb. class. Frank Zeller, a freshman from Arlington Heights, Ill., lifted a 165 lb. press, a 225 lb. clean and jerk and 400 lbs. dead lift for a total of 790 lbs. the highest of the night.

Russ Carson of Westville, Ind., another member of the freshman wrestling team, finished second in the 180 lb. class. He pushed up weights of 165, 170, and 380 lbs. in the competition.

The closest contest of the meet was offered by heavyweights Al Jacobsen, a freshman from River Grove, Ill., and Glenn Dobecki, president of the club from Niles, Mich. After the press, Glenn led by 15 lbs. having put up a 170 lb. lift. They tied in the clean and jerk with 210 lbs.

The dead lift told the story of the match when Jacobsen pulled up 405 lbs., forcing Dobecki to try a 390 lb. bar to tie him. However, he was unsuccessful in this, his best lift being 375 lbs. Thus the freshman was crowned the victor with 770 total to the senior's 755.

Clubs elect new officers; Pop concert set for May 16

The College Band recently elected officers for the 1961-62 school year. Paul Germek was elected president; Kevin O'Brien was chosen vice-president; and Bob Dougherty was named secretary-treasurer.

The Band, directed by Adam P. Lesinsky, is preparing the annual "Pop" concert, which will be presented on Wednesday evening, May 16, in the college auditorium. The "Pop" concert will feature selections from three Broadway musicals, "Wildcat," "Gypsy," and "Camelot."

On Tuesday, April 10, the Pre Law Club held its annual election of officers. Those elected were Eberhard Gabriel president, Jim Sullivan vice-president, Jim Ford secretary and Andy Lynch treasurer.

The main purpose of the club is to foster an interest in legal affairs and aid those who are contemplating entering the legal profession.

However, by means of frequent lectures by celebrities from the field of law, trips to actual courtrooms, and talks by faculty members from various universities, there is an excellent opportunity for any student to gain invaluable information which can be applied to all walks of life.

In the near future, the club hopes to have pamphlets and other pertinent information from all the law schools in the country. These will be made available to anyone on campus.

All students are invited to attend the next meeting which will be held May 15 in Merlini lounge.

The Ohio club held elections on April 2. New officers are: Terry Miesle, president; Mike Holler, vice-president; Sam Rankin, secretary; and Louis Guagenti, treasurer.

All the new officers will be juniors next year except Guagenti, who will be a soph. The new officers are planning the annual club banquet, which will be held sometime this month.

The Courier club recently elected John Seggerson its president for the 1962-63 school year. Also elected were Chuck Clemens, vice-president and Hank Krigbaum, secretary-treasurer.

The club has purchased club blazers, and insignias have been ordered. Voting at the last meeting brought club membership to 15.

The Monogram club recently named senior Jim Crowley the "J-Man of the Year." Crowley, this year's president of the club, has been captain of both the basketball and baseball teams.

At the same time, next year's officers were elected. George Foss was elected president, Art Voelinger was named as vice-president, Jim Crook was selected as secretary, and Dennis Houlihan was named treasurer.
